DIVERSITY OF OUR PLEASURES.

Every Day And Evening Offers Something For Everyone Of Whatever Taste.

A SUGGESTION FOR THE GROUCH.

* * *

The attractions now seem sufficiently varied to appeal to the taste of everybody sojourning within the city, be his fancy be whatever it may. For those who want to ride or wheel about there is every facility offered; bicycles and carriages, horse and horseless. On the river are various sorts of crafts at your or your buddies there are chugs, pagodas, motorless boats up and down the river, with various drawing cards on either end.

If you like to fish, how are the bridges and the ocean pier. If you like to hunt, the woods are full of game.

The hotels seem to vie with each other in offering pleasant diversions, especially during the evenings. Card parties, chess, checkers, flinch and other games are indulged in. Dancing is of nightly occurrence at some, and there are formal and rather pretentious hops indulged in at the various hostelries at intervals.

Chugs and light vaudeville is offered every afternoon and evening at the Beach street theatres, and this often is a place to drop in and rest and forget your cares, if you have any weighing upon you.

The Yacht Club and the Automobile Club are excellent lounging places.

If you are literary, and want to keep your wits sharpened and your intellect burnished, go to the public library, and you can spend pleasant and profitable hours.

Maybe it is your spiritual strength you want to renew. The churches will each and every one give you a cordial welcome. The Methodists are now conducting a revival service at their church, at the corner of Palmetto avenue and Bay street, and considerable interest is aroused. The Seventh Day Adventists have their tent pitched on Second avenue, between Palmetto and Beach. Go later then.

If none of these things appeal to you, you have a "grouch," in this case you would better subscribe for the Daily News: if it doesn't help you, you can at least authorize the editor, "knock" the City Council, complain of the acid and the dust, expatiate over and over about the bum service and exorbitant charges of your hotel.

A Wedding Party.

Raymond McDonald, a prosperous farmer and fruit grower of Port Orange, and Miss Alice Almand, of Osteen, were united in marriage at the latter place Tuesday morning, returning to Port Orange the same day, where they will make their home.

Mr. McDonald is a brother of R. H. McDonald, of this city, and Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McDonald, Miss Alice Terrington and several other young people, drove down to Port Orange and gave the young people a warm reception.

Editor Daily News:—

There has been enquiry in a public way as to what I am and what I am. I was born in Ohio; my parents were among the first to settle in the central part of Ohio. My father was a very prominent man in that part of the State and I, in my time, have been honored by the people to several public trusts. I was justice of the peace from 1884 to 1890; was elected township clerk one term; was postmaster during the administration of Benjamin Harrison; I was assistant in the probate judge's office and can say that I performed the duties satisfactorily to the people I represented, and if any one should like to make any enquiries concerning me I would refer them in some of my business friends in the South. Without their permission I would refer to Common Pleas Judge Thomas E. Duncan, S. P. Gage cashier and William Carlisle, president, of the People's Savings & Banking Co., M. W. Spier probate judge, as professor of high school; all of Mt. Gilead, Ohio, and W. H. Dennis, president of People's Bank, Cardington, Ohio, Sperry & Worstell, bankers, Ashley, Ohio. I would be glad to name many other prominent people of this section. I can guarantee that if elected mayor of Daytona the interests of the city will be safeguarded as well as they ever have been. I can say with pride that I have never been arrested, nor sued for debt.

Very respectfully,

D. F. RANDOLPH.

Rifles and Stars Both Make a Little Gain—High School Way Ahead.

Yesterday's count showed the Elks to be moving very steadily, their passing the colored Industrial School and the First Baptist Parsonage in a single day, being now not so very far behind Miss Jean Frances Conrad. The Daytona High School forges ahead further, but the Rifles and Eastern Star lads, more gains, the former a gain of nearly seven thousand.

From now on the contest is bound to be interesting. The Elks having retired will tend to put new life in the voting, and while many think they cannot overtake the High School at the same time it believe everyone is hustle.

Outside of Daytona there is many nothing of interest save Mr. Kincaid, school seeming to have stopped for a day. There is promotion of another hundred up for several score school of the city.

JOHN MYERS IS THE FIRST VICTIM

Auto Driver Took Daily News "Pedestrian" Rules Seriously and Exercises His Prerogative

MARSHAL'S SECOND CLOSE CALL.

* * *

Marshal John Myers read the rules governing movements of pedestrians in yesterday's Daily News but the rules didn't strike in on him with sufficient force, and in consequence of his indifference he was the first victim of an accident. He was caught in a mix-up with one of the little Red Devils, this morning, and an official funeral was narrowly averted. The marshal's wheel came out looking like the framework of a chorus girl's big crazy hat, while Mr. Myers himself was rolled in the crushed mart, just after the water wagon passed by, and got up looking like one side of a pebble dash cottage on the west side of the railroad.

The marshal seems to be running a series of half-tenth escapes. He had a Sing-Sing electric voltage shot through his system at the Midway fire recently and came out alive, and now he comes out second best in an auto mix-up.

It seems from the reports of bystanders that the automobile driver lost his nerve, at least the marshal thought so, or he would have stopped his machine or given the marshal a safe distance; as it was the marshal not only was run down with an alarmingly close call, and injured but his wheel was ruined.

John B. Ostheller, whose rubadoot struck Mr. Myers, says he was running only about three miles an hour and when coming up the street he noticed Mr. Myers coming in front of him and was on the wrong side of the street; Mr. Ostheller says he turned over to the other side of the street then, thinking the marshal was not going to give way to him; just then began a dodging game and the mixup resulted. Mr. Ostheller regrets the accident and says that although he does not consider himself to blame in the least he is going to reimburse Mr. Myers for the damage to his wheel.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Steps were taken today by Receiver Morris and Patrick J. Kiernan, head of the Fidelity Funding Co, to evolve a plan whereby the concern can be put on its feet, and the numerous Catholic institutions which did business with Kiernan protected. Several conferences were held today between Receiver Morris and representatives of creditors looking toward consummating plans.

NOTED PITCHER PASSES AWAY.

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—John G. Clarkson, the famous pitcher, died here today. Clarkson at one time was the greatest ball player in the United States.

JOHN MYERS IS THE FIRST VICTIM

Auto Driver Took Daily News "Pedestrian" Rules Seriously and Exercises His Prerogative

MARSHAL'S SECOND CLOSE CALL.

Marshal John Myers read the rules governing movements of pedestrians in yesterday's Daily News but the rules didn't strike in on him with sufficient force, and in consequence of his indifference he was the first victim of an accident. He was caught in a mix-up with one of the little Red Devils, this morning, and an official funeral was narrowly averted. The marshal's wheel came out looking like the framework of a chorus girl's big crazy hat, while Mr. Myers himself was rolled in the crushed marl, just after the water wagon passed by, and got up looking like one side of a pebble-dash cottage on the west side of the railroad

The marshal seems to be running a series of hair-breath escapes. He had a Sing-Sing electric voltage shot through his system at the Midway fire recently and came out alive, and now he comes out second best in an auto mix-up.

It seems from the reports of bystanders that the automobile driver lost his nerve, at least the marshal thought so, or he would have stopped his machine or given the marshal a safe distance; as it was the marshal not only was run down with an alarmingly close call, and injured but his wheel was ruined.

John B Uebelhoer, whose runabout struck Mr. Myers, says he was running only about three miles an hour and when coming up the street he noticed Mr. Myers coming in front of him and was on the wrong side of the street; Mr. Uebelhoer says he turned over to the other side of the street then, thinking the marshal was not going to give way to him; just then began a dodging game and the mixup resulted. Mr. Uebelhoer regrets the accident and says that although he does not consider himself to blame in the least he is going to reimburse Mr. Myers for the damage to his wheel.

PROBING A MURDER.

(By United Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 4.—Behind closed doors the trial of Pierre Renard, butler, and George Courters, valet, for the murder of their master, Banker Remy, began today in the assize court.

Remy was mysteriously stabbed to death in his apartments last summer. Courters confessed his part in the crime, and alleged that he was instigated by Renard, robbery being the motive. Renard denies all knowledge of the crime.

A SISTER OF THE POPE IN HER HUMBLE COTTAGE.

While the pope has shown much interest in the sufferers from the earthquake and has rendered much aid to them, his sisters have not been idle in similarly dispensing charity. Even his sister, who is the wife of an innkeeper in his native village, has sent money from her scanty income to aid the stricken people.

Welcoming the Traveler.

I have always had a good opinion of the enterprise of the life insurance agent. It has seemed to me that the busy bee is a lazy never-do-well compared with him. Recently this opinion has been strengthened.

An old retired servant living in a neighboring family made his first trip away from home and visited relatives in New York.

On his return to Louisiana he was asked what he did while in the north.

"Well, 'oomp oddah Chigs I done tuk out a life insurance policy for $' hund'ed dollahs."

"Why, what on earth do you want with a life insurance policy? You have no wife or children."

"Don'e what I done tol' him, but I had t' take it, all de same. De agent man, he met me at de boat landin', an' he said I'd bet'r have one or he'd see me back home. He wasn't gwine fo' t' 'low me t' land if I didn't buy one. Dey don't 'low no one in New Yawk 'lessen dey has 'a 'sulance policy!'"

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Feb. 4.—Mrs. U. L. Horn left yesterday morning for Chattanooga, Tenn., in answer to a letter announcing the serious illness of her mother.

The officers of the Epworth League and the church trustees held a business session at the parsonage Monday night, to consider enlarging the church.

J. C. Butler yesterday closed a deal with J. E. Garfield, of Boston, for the purchase of a lot on Earl street, belonging to Mrs. Edith Brush Shoemaker. Mr. Garfield is son of Dr. Garfield, whose new home has recently been completed on Palmetto avenue.

The Tuesday night dance, at the Casino, under the auspices of the Dance Club, was quite a pleasant and select affair.

C. L. Horn is just completing a cement sidewalk, on Palmetto avenue, for Chas. Wilson, which includes an extension of 350 feet, on Palmetto, from Seabreeze avenue, south, as soon as A. Vandewoude has completed the walk in front of his property on the same thoroughfare. A number of lots have recently been purchased and cleared on this street, and just now it is taking the lead in improvements.

Mrs. Doubleday, who has been spending some time at the home of C. H. Wilson, left yesterday on the return trip to her home, at Binghampton, N. Y.

W. S. Bentley, of Ithaca, N. Y., who is looking after his orange interests, at Satsuma, Fla., reports to visit Mr. and Mrs. Cozens in the near future.

W. A. Hunt, of Cleveland, arrived in the city last night, and was registered at the Daytona Beach Hotel.

Walter B. Benson, of New London, Conn., and C. A. Mills, of Jacksonville, registered at the Seaside Inn last night.

Mrs. Sherman has returned from Chicago, and will spend the winter with her brother, in the Peterson cottage.

Sleepy Lenore.

Sleepy Lenore—knows to perfection "the white man's grip"—viewed from the deck of an incoming steamer presents an appearance distinctly attractive. As to climate, the scrupled "white man's grave" is sufficiently attractive. Suffice it to say that the first of the daily regimental orders ran thus: "Funeral parade at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow," and it was seldom heard that the parade was dismissed for lack of a victim to the pestiferous climatic conditions. Indeed, so arduous became the duties of sepulchral duet, a bivouac was customary to the beginning for the entire regiment and band to attend, only the composer of the deceased and the bellringer to be left on. Sleepy Lenore is infested with snakes, large and small. The former are of the constrictor species, the latter are all extremely venomous. The most deadly of all perhaps is the yellow jack, a beautiful yellow and black reptile, whose bite is reputed to prove fatal within a space of twenty minutes. Westchester County Magazine.

Welcoming the Traveler.

I have always had a good opinion of the enterprise of the life insurance agent. It has seemed to me that the busy bee is a lazy ne'er-do-well compared with him. Recently this opinion has been strengthened.

An old colored servant living in a neighboring family made his first trip away from home and visited relatives in New York.

On his return to Louisiana he was asked what he did while in the north.

"Well, 'mong uddah t'ings I done tuk out a life insurance policy fo' fi' hun'ed dollahs."

"Why, what on earth do you want with a life insurance policy? You have no wife or children!"

"Dat's what I done tol' him, but I had t' take it, all de same. De agent man, he met me at de boat landin', an' he said I'd haf t' have one or he'd sen' me back home. He warn't gwine fo' t' 'low me t' land if I didn't buy one. Dey don't 'low no one in New Yawk 'less dey has a 'suhance policy!"

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Feb. 4.—Mrs C. L. Horn left yesterday morning for Chattanooga, Tenn., in answer to a letter announcing the serious illness of her mother.

The officers of the Epworth League and the church trustees held a business session at the parsonage, Monday night, to consider enlarging the church.

J. C. Butler yesterday closed a deal with J. E. Garfield, of Boston, for the purchase of a lot on Earl street, belonging to Mrs. Edith Brush-Shoemaker. Mr. Garfield is son of Dr. Garfield. whose new home has recently been completed, on Palmetto avenue.

The Tuesday night dance, at the Casino, under the auspices of the Dance Club, was quite a pleasant and select affair.

C.L. Horn is just completing a cement sidewalk, on Palmetto avenue, for Chas. Willson, which includes an extension of 330 feet, on Palmetto, from Seabreeze avenue, south, as soon as A. Vandevorde has completed the walk in front of his property, which is in course of construction. A number of lots have recently been purchased and cleared on this street, and just now it is taking the lead in improvements.

Miss Doubleday, who has been spending some time at the home of C. H. Willson, left yesterday on the return trip to her home, at Binghampton, N.Y.

W. S. Bentley, of Ithaca, N. Y., who is looking after his orange interests, at Satsuma, Fla., expects to visit Mr. and Mrs. Coates in the near future.

W.A. Stringfellow, of Sanford, arrived in the burg last night, and was registered at the Daytona Beach Hotel.

Walter R. Denison, of New London Conn., and C. A Miles, of Jacksonville, registered at the Seaside Inn last night.

Mrs. Sherman has arrived from Chicago, and will spend the winter with her brother, in the Peterson cottage.

Sierra Leone.

Sierra Leone—known to fame as "the white man's grave"—viewed from the deck of an incoming steamer presents an appearance distinctly attractive. As to climate, the sobriquet "white man's grave" is sufficiently instructive. Suffice it to say that the first of the daily regimental orders ran thus: "Funeral parade at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow," and it was seldom indeed that the parade was dismissed for lack of a victim to the pestiferous climatic conditions. Indeed, so arduous became the duties of sepulcher that, whereas it was customary in the beginning for the entire regiment and band to attend, only the company of the deceased and the firing party did so later on. Sierra Leone is infested with snakes, large and small The former are of the constrictor species; the latter are all extremely venomous. The most deadly of all perhaps is the yellow jack, a beautiful yellow and black reptile, whose bite is reputed to prove fatal within a space of twenty minutes.—Westchester County Magazine.

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the pepping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of hard washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Peaceful Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas basking out upon her bosom, grassy land futher in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with sail and reel; her bosom flecked with sail and boat and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lobberly old white headed p-lican perch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk rise circling upward with his floundering load be matched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their lampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid an liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these colossal sons great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropicwise fan them. Looking straight up and down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with silken draperies but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more universal interest, attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The names of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them and as the architecture of our section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact, must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their side margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park.

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like gumbo—somewhere between the natives and wonders—one are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Sidewalks, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and lameness indifferent or one nations one may be to many things, the more assertion of "sidewalk and no sidewalk" still stands a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "poor boy" there is a hungry mule to come out and accept your gift. He will sit on both upright and gnaw into the meat, ruching further away from it with every mouthful.

Flowers! Tenacity fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard rows of variegated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the palmetto and the possessors are adherent; another is biddy to a couple of full moons.

The birds fill the air with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are acres of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is on free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for rate for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and 3-fifths them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

LOCAL ITEMS

Many of Daytona's citizens are puzzled over the question as to whether the incoming Mayor will be entitled to the salary provided for the office, or with the fees or will he want both? Perhaps the candidates are prepared to answer the question now.

Just received big stock of Diamond Tuxedo silk shirts and styles. Buy your ties here at New York prices, and get them pressed up free. Daytona Auto Transit Co. tf

Manager E. L. Gunn, of the electric light plant, says that the new lights provided for at the last meeting of the city council will be installed and ready for use Saturday night at the intersection of Holly-ave and Ridgewood avenues, in the southern part of the city.

"Lawyer Prince—Big Boston young strong. W. H. Cameron, 21 avenue."

Keep an eye on your bicycle at this season of the year. There is more or less trouble during the winter season with bicycles being stolen during the night or temporarily appropriated by unscrupulous persons. R. Jarvis lost his wheel Monday calling on W. F. Holmes, on Loomis avenue, at about 8 o'clock.

The Annual Dinner and Valentine Sale of St. Mary's Guild will be held on Friday, February 5th, from 2 to 10 p. m., in the Guild Hall. The ladies will have on sale Fancy and Domestic articles, also Home-made Candy and Cake. Ice Cream, Cake and Coffee will be served. 153

What Is It, a Lobster?

That the methods of public school instruction as applied in one city at least do not always meet the approbation of the parents of the pupils was evidenced when a German lad whose bristly blond hair was standing perfectly erect with super-abode fear at Baltimore school one day and approaching the principal, demanded:

"Vot is it, a lobster?"

The principal exhibited in his answer none that a lobster was a species of shellfish.

"How many legs has de—der lobster?"

The number of legs was promptly stated.

"Look here," exclaimed the irritated Teuton, "I vork for me in a big barrel and if your teacher he comes and peter dings to ask me my boy Hermon how many legs has it, a lobster, and make him come home to holder his ladder mit exactness, 'What is it, a lobster? It is gut business!"—Lippincott's.

Snubbing a Snob.

Jennits, the Lenox poet and barber, once treated a rich snob to the snubbing he deserved. Jennits had been reading his poems for the benefit of the poor and half shorn head on reared in triumphal possession to his work. Next morning while he was still in bed some one knocked at the door and a vague lunch entered and introduced himself without invitation to a chair.

"My dear Jennits" said he patronizingly, "I am a banker, a millionaire, as you know. I wish you to shave me with your own hand. Please set to work at once, for I am pressed for time. You can ask what you like for your trouble."

"Pardon me, sir," said Jennits, with pride, "I shave for pay at home only."

"What do you say?"

"It is true, sir. I shave for pay only at home."

"Come, come! You are jesting. I am pressed for put off. Make your charge what you like, but shave me."

"Again I say, sir, it is impossible."

"How impossible! Isn't it your trade?"

"It is, but at this moment I am not disposed to exercise it."

In spite of renewed bribes and entreaties Jennits remained firm, and the millionaire went away muttered.

Cricket Fighting.

Cricket fighting, a national sport in the Celestial Kingdom is odd to us. Crickets are trained. They are examined and dieted, and daily, before a match, smaller, weaker crickets are opposed to them that they may work out for themselves good fighting systems. In matches the betting is very high. The Chinese, who are remembers gamblers, have fortunes over crickets as American millionaires lose fortunes over race horses. A good cricket fight will last half an hour. The opposing crickets, such is a rather nice bad still be dropped into a ring with a wall around it about six inches high. A cockatoo to win must throw his adversary out this wall clean out of the ring. The crickets are rung for the seconds. These bells have a peculiar timbre and excite the crickets to a very frenzy of fighting. A cricket with a good record will sell for $5 or $10, while champions often fetch $50.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Drinkers' Logic.

"Men drink," said a temperance lecturer, "because they are happy, because they are sad, because they are too warm, because they are too cold. It comes any logic in that?

"When I see men drinking I think of a little boy at the seashore.

"This little boy, at play with his bucket and shovel on the sand, suddenly ran to the edge of an advancing wave and, scooping up a handful of salt water and foam, drank it greedily.

"'Oh, don't drink that,' said his nurse. 'It will make you thirsty.'

"'What if it does?' said he. 'There's plenty more.'"

The Modern Seven Wonders

Daytona's Incomparable Ocean Beach.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy veranda's looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon her waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid an liquid ready for a cruise upon her beautiful surface Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies, and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live-oaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottage. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering "What next?"

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give to Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the little finishing touches which have brought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage, the entire city becomes a great park

And as for pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? Till some unheard-of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruits.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "squirrels and flowers, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare "goober" there is a bunny ready to come out and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and gnaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers! Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round. In one yard roses of variagated hues predominate, another has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes.

The Fastest Autos And The Finest Out.

Here is where world's records for speed are broken with every recurring season. Autos the biggest, the fastest and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousand flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene. You will probably catch the spirit and when you do the roads and the beach are yours The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free and you will have to go down in your wallet only for coin for the auto and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

What Is It, a Lobster?

That the methods of public school instruction as applied in one city at least do not always meet the approbation of the parents of the pupils was evidenced when a German man whose bristly blond hair was standing perfectly erect with anger strode into a Baltimore school one day and, approaching the principal, demanded:

"Vot is it, a lobster?"

The principal explained in his suavest tone that a lobster was a species of shellfish.

"How many legs has it—der lobster?"

The number of legs was promptly stated.

"Look here," exclaimed the irritated Teuton, "I vork for me in a big hurry, und if your teacher he cannot find petter dings to ask my boy Herman how many legs has it, a lobster, und make him come home to bodder his fadder mit questions, 'What is it, a lobster?' it is pad business!"—Lippincott's.

Snubbing a Snob.

Jasmin, the Gascon poet and barber, once treated a rich snob to the snubbing he deserved. Jasmin had been reciting his poems for the benefit of the poor and had afterward been escorted in triumphal procession to his hotel. Next morning while he was still in bed some one knocked at the door, and a vulgar nabob entered and installed himself without invitation in a chair.

"My dear Jasmin," said he patronizingly, "I am a banker, a millionaire, as you know. I wish you to shave me with your own hand. Please set to work at once, for I am pressed for time. You can ask what you like for your trouble."

"Pardon me, sir," said Jasmin, with pride. "I shave for pay at home only."

"What do you say?"

"It is true, sir. I shave for pay only at home."

"Come, come! You are jesting. I cannot be put off. Make your charge what you like, but shave me."

"Again I say, sir, it is impossible."

"How impossible? Isn't it your trade?"

"It is, but at this moment I am not disposed to exercise it."

In spite of renewed bribes and entreaties Jasmin remained firm, and the millionaire went away unshaved.

Cricket Fighting.

Cricket fighting, a national sport in the Celestial Kingdom, is odd to see. Crickets are trained. They are exercised and dieted, and daily, before a match, smaller, weaker crickets are opposed to them that they may work out for themselves good fighting systems. In matches the betting is very high. The Chinese, who are tremendous gamblers, often lose fortunes over crickets, as American millionaires lose fortunes over race horses. A good cricket fight will last half an hour. The opposing crickets, each in a tube like a box stall, are dropped into a ring with a wall around it about six inches high. A combatant to win must throw his rival over this wall clean out of the ring. Tiny bells are rung by the seconds. These bells have a peculiar timbre and excite the crickets to a very frenzy of fighting. A cricket with a good record will sell for $5 or $10, while champions often fetch $50.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Drinkers' Logic.

"Men drink," said a temperance lecturer, "because they are happy, because they are sad, because they are too warm, because they are too cold. Is there any logic in that?

"When I see men drinking I think of a little boy at the seashore.

"This little boy, at play with his bucket and shovel in the sand, suddenly ran to the edge of an advancing wave and, scooping up a handful of salt water and foam, drank it greedily.

"'Oh, don't drink that,' said his nurse. 'It will make you thirsty.'

"'What if it does?' said he. 'There's plenty more.'"

Old Roman Laws.

The old Roman laws, according to Cruickshank, conferred on the husband complete empery over the wife. All she owned or earned was vested in him, and he acquired the same rights over her person and property as if she were his natural daughter. The wife, on the other hand, acquired all the rights to a child and to her husband's name and succession in the event of an immediate soinic, and she could exercise all the privileges to which her sex admitted. The power of the ancient Roman father over his offspring was originally perpetual, nor could the child be emancipated from the father's control during the father's life except by that parent's consent, nor did he become sui juris until the Father (being himself sui juris) died, when the son was emancipated by the simple operation of the law. In those brave days the father had legal permission to scourge his children or to send them, fettered like slaves, to work on his estate or even to kill them, choosing whatsoever means for their taking off he thought proper.

How the Brahman Cleans His Teeth.

When the Brahman cleans his teeth he must use a small twig cut from one of a number of certain trees, and before he cuts it he must make his net known to the gods of the woods. He must not indulge in this cleanly habit every day. He must abstain on the sixth, the eighth, the ninth, the fourteenth, the fifteenth and the last day of the moon, on the days of new and full moon, on the Tuesday in every week, on the day of the constellation under which he was born, on the day of the week and constellation of the month which corresponded with those of his birth, at an eclipse, at the conjunction of the planets, at the equinoxes and other unlucky times and does not eat the anniversary of the death of his father or mother. Any one who cleans his teeth with his bit of stick on any of the above mentioned days will have hell as his portion.—"Hindoo Manners," by Abbe Dubois.

His Conundrum.

"What is the difference," asked the man with the erratic eyebrows, "between a tall, stout man and a three wife less purchased for him a pale pink smoking jacket with yellow facings and a pocket that is utterly out of consonance with it, a dry goods store bills in the afternoon of the day before Christmas, after having put off the purchase for two weeks because she had to attend half a dozen bridge parties, and a horse, facial blemish nobleman who has been convinced of the brotherhood of man and who is devoting himself to the laudable work of converting the people on his estates?"

"How's that?" asked the man with the dilatory mustache.

The man with the erratic eyebrows repeated the query, and the other man, of course, refused to answer, saying that if he replied to hypothetical questions he must demand an expert's fee.

"Well, well," exploded the man with the erratic eyebrows, "it is simple enough. One pays for the present and the other prays for the peasant."—Chicago Post.

A Martyr to the Fox.

A fox can climb almost as well as a cat and will often be found lying in close rest on the top of ivy covered walls. High walls covered with ivy often surround private residences in hunting districts. One of these domestic walls caused the tragic death of a hound in the south of Ireland a few years ago. There was a belt of trees with thicklish undergrowth close up to the wall and the hounds were running a tired fox hard through this belt. Suddenly the cry ceased; there were the mendacitable growling and worrying which proclaim a kill. The master jumped off his horse and pushed his way through the undergrowth. On getting to the park, instead of finding a dead fox he saw to his horror one of the best hounds torn to pieces. It was easy to understand what had happened. The fox had got over the wall by the help of some ivy, and the hound had tried to jump over after him, but, falling back among the others, had been killed before they realized their mistake.—London Standard.

Much Interest in Tent Meeting.

The interest in the tent meetings, on Third avenue is steadily increasing. A large audience was present last night to hear Elder Parmele present "The Prophetic History of the World." The sermon was based on the Second chapter of Daniel.

The speaker showed that the four parts of the great image described in that chapter represented the four universal monarchies of history, Babylon Medo-Persia, Grecia and Rome.

The feet and toes being a mixture of iron and clay, represented the division of the fourth kingdom into ten parts. "These," said the speaker, "are commonly known as the ten kingdoms of western Europe. Thus we see we are living in the feet and toes of the great image, and what is the next thing to transpire?

"We have the text said:

'Forasmuch the course of empire takes its way,
The first four sets already past,
The fifth shall end the drama with the day,
Time noblest offspring is the last.'

"The first four kingdoms are gone, and time's noblest offspring, the everlasting Kingdom of God, is the next and last."

The subject for tonight is: "What Will Happen When Christ Comes."

Burton Grisbee and wife, who are spending the season in Daytona are much pleased with the subtropical climate, it having greatly improved Mr. Grisbee's health during his stay here last winter. Mr. Grisbee is a prominent real estate man of Des Moines, and was erroneously reported in the Daily News yesterday.

I saw him bobbing an umbrella over you the other day, and all the while it ought to be allowed to drain right on to you. Nancy—What better proof could I have that he is in love with me? He hadn't the least idea that it was rainin', the dear man!—Boston Transcript.

Old Roman Laws.

The old Roman laws, according to Colquhoun, conferred on the husband complete empery over the wife. All she owned or earned was vested in him, and he acquired the same rights over her person and property as if she were his natural daughter. The wife, on the other hand, acquired all the rights to a child and to her husband's name and succession in the event of an intestate estate, and she could exercise all the privileges to which her sex admitted. The power of the ancient Roman father over his offspring was originally perpetual, nor could the child be emancipated from the father's control during the father's life except by that parent's consent, nor did he become sui juris until the father (being himself sui juris) died, when the son was emancipated by the simple operation of the law. In those brave days the father had legal permission to scourge his children or to send them, fettered like slaves, to work on his estate or even to kill them, choosing whatsoever means for their taking off he thought proper.

How the Brahman Cleans His Teeth.

When the Brahman cleans his teeth he must use a small twig cut from one of a number of certain trees, and before he cuts it he must make his act known to the gods of the woods. He must not indulge in this cleanly habit every day. He must abstain on the sixth, the eighth, the ninth, the fourteenth, the fifteenth and the last day of the moon, on the days of new and full moon, on the Tuesday in every week, on the day of the constellation under which he was born, on the day of the week and on the day of the month which correspond with those of his birth, at an eclipse, at the conjunction of the planets, at the equinoxes and other unlucky epochs and also on the anniversary of the death of his father or mother. Any one who cleans his teeth with his bit of stick on any of the above mentioned days will have hell as his portion.—"Hindoo Manners," by Abbe Dubois.

His Conundrum.

"What is the difference," asked the man with the erratic eyebrows, "between a tall, stout man whose wife has purchased for him a pale pink smoking jacket with yellow facings and a pocket that is utterly out of convenient reach at a dry goods store late in the afternoon of the day before Christmas, after having put off the purchase for two weeks because she had to attend half a dozen bridge parties, and a large, jovial Russian nobleman who has been convinced of the brotherhood of man and who is devoting himself to the laudable work of converting the people on his estates?"

"How's that?" asked the man with the dilatory mustache.

The man with the erratic eyebrows repeated the query, and the other man, of course, refused to answer, saying that if he replied to hypothetical questions he must demand an expert's fee.

"Oh, well," explained the man with the erratic eyebrows, "it is simple enough. One pays for the present and the other prays for the peasant."—Chicago Post.

A Martyr to the Fox.

A fox can climb almost as well as a cat and will often be found lying in trees and on the top of ivy covered walls. High walls covered with ivy often surround private residences in hunting districts. One of these domain walls caused the tragic death of a hound in the south of Ireland a few years ago. There was a belt of trees with thickish undergrowth close up to the wall, and the hounds were running a tired fox hard through this belt. Suddenly the cry ceased; there were the unmistakable growling and worrying which proclaim a kill. The master jumped off his horse and pushed his way through the undergrowth. On getting to the pack, instead of finding a dead fox he saw to his horror one of the best hounds torn to pieces. It was easy to understand what had happened. The fox had got over the wall by the help of some ivy, and the hound had tried to jump over after him, but, falling back among the others, had been killed before they realized their mistake.—London Standard.

Much Interest in Tent Meeting.

The interest in the tent meetings, on Third avenue is steadily increasing. A large audience was present last night to hear Elder Parmele present "The Prophetic History of the World." The sermon was based on the Second chapter of Daniel.

The speaker showed that the four parts of the great image described in that chapter represented the four universal monarchies of history, Babylon Medo-Persia, Grecia and Rome.

The feet and toes being a mixture of iron and clay, represented the division of the fourth kingdom into ten parts. "These," said the speaker, "are commonly known as the ten kingdoms of western Europe. Thus we see we are living in the feet and toes of the great image, and what is the next thing to transpire?

"Well has the poet said:

'Westward the course of empire takes its way,
The first four acts already past,
The fifth shall end the drama with the day,
Times noblest offspring is the last.'

"The first four kingdoms are gone, and time's noblest offspring, the everlasting Kingdom of God, is the next and last."

The subject for tonight is: "What Will Happen When Christ Comes."

Martin Geisler and wife, who are spending the season in Daytona are immensely pleased with the salubrious climate, it having greatly improved Mr. Geisler's health during his stay here last winter. Eyes Only For Her.

Martha—You don't mean to say you have accepted that Mr. Spooner? Why, he is so awkward, you know! I saw him holding an umbrella over you the other day, and all the water it caught he allowed to drain right on to you. Nancy—What better proof could I have that he is in love with me? He hadn't the least idea that it was raining, the dear man!—Boston Transcript.
